Rewards Jar

We all like to receive recognition and rewards when we perform well or do a good deed. These motivate us to repeat such actions.

Write in the spaces below various rewards that family members would like to receive for behaviors you would like to encourage.

Tips: Make sure these are rewards you and your child agree on. When a child does well, IMMEDIATELY PRAISE AND SAY THEY EARNED A REWARD SLIP. Allow them to pick it immediately or have an appointed family time when the child can choose a reward from the jar and be praised in front of the family.

If they want to, let the kids decorate a Rewards Jar. The following items can be helpful: Colored paper, cloth, or paint, family photos, pictures of rewards (like an ice cream cone, video game time, etc.) cut out from magazines or drawn by them.
